

NFL POWER RANKINGS

Week 2: LUKE LAPINSKI

RANK	TEAM	COMMENT
1	KANSAS CITY	If what Kareem Hunt showed Thursday is real, they'll be tough to beat all year. Berry injury hurts though.
2	NEW ENGLAND	It's one week. And the Brady/Belichick Pats have a history of winning Super Bowls after starting 0-1 and/or losing to KC.
3	GREEN BAY	Tough to argue with what they just did to the Seahawks.
4	PITTSBURGH	Far from dominant, but a win's a win. Even if it does come against Cleveland.
5	OAKLAND	Won the Week 1 matchup of football's two trendiest teams vs Tennessee.
6	DALLAS	In case you fell asleep during that Sunday Night game - the Cowboys won.
7	SEATTLE	If they ever addressed the o-line they'd be really dangerous.
8	ATLANTA	Managed to hold on to a fourth quarter lead this time. Barely.
9	BALTIMORE	Not exactly the NFL's most exciting team, but that's a big division win - on the road, no less - in Week 1.
10	CAROLINA	Clearly intent on getting McCaffrey (18 touches) involved.
11	DENVER	The AFC West could be absurdly good this season.
12	MINNESOTA	Sam Bradford is No. 2 in the NFL with 346 passing yds right now - behind only Alex Smith. Let that sink in.
13	NY GIANTS	Without OBJ, Eli just looks like the kid whose parents make him play football so he can meet new friends.
14	TENNESSEE	Corey Davis showed flashes after an injury-riddled preseason.
15	PHILADELPHIA	Wentz-to-Agholor TD might end up being one of Philly's best plays all season.
16	DETROIT	That has to be the worst special teams performance by a winning team in years.
17	ARIZONA	Never woke up in Week 1, but there's time to bounce back. Injuries are the real concern here though.
18	TAMPA BAY	I already miss Hard Knocks.
19	MIAMI	Get ready for 16 straight weeks of Jay Cutler.
20	LA RAMS	If they played Indianapolis every week they'd be unstoppable.
21	JACKSONVILLE	Calais is on pace for 64 sacks this year. No big deal.
22	WASHINGTON	That's a tough home loss to suffer against a division rival in Week 1.
23	LA CHARGERS	Don't look bad. But good luck moving up in that division.
24	NEW ORLEANS	Well at least Adrian Peterson and Sean Payton are getting along.
25	BUFFALO	Edging the Jets only proves so much. Sorry.
26	CINCINNATI	The foundation for any successful season: getting shut out at home to begin the year.
27	HOUSTON	Always good when you don't even know who your QB is one week into the season.
28	CHICAGO	Everyone in your fantasy league is rushing to pick up Tarik Cohen right... now.
29	CLEVELAND	They actually look like a team that could win a few games this year. Or at least hang around.
30	INDIANAPOLIS	The Colts without Andrew Luck are about as useful as a car without wheels. Or doors. Or an engine.
31	SAN FRANCISCO	At this rate they'll score roughly as many points this season as the Rams did in Week 1.
32	NY JETS	If I'm Sam Darnold, I'm looking for another sport to play.